Unemployment Rate Takes Giant Jump

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate took its largest one-month jump in nearly a decade last month, climbing to 3.9 per cent of the country's labor force. Other economic signs continued to reflect a slowing economy under the Nixon administration's anti-inflation policies.

The increase over December from 3.5 per cent to 3.9 per cent, the Labor Department said today, was the biggest since December 1960, when the rate climbed by half a point to 6.6 per cent and the 3.9 per cent rate was the highest since November 1967.

Not only did the jobless rate jump to 3.9 per cent with a total of 3.4 million unemployed workers, the Labor Department said today, but the average work week dropped and overtime for manufacturing workers fell to its lowest level in two and a half years.

The department said the total unemployment increase for January over December was even greater than the usual December-January change. In all, unemployment was up 325,000 over the month, with most of the increase accounted for by teenagers and adult men.

The 3.9 per cent increase was four-tenths of one per cent above the seasonally adjusted December rate of 3.5 and slightly above the revised September-October level of 3.8 per cent.

The department said jobless rates for most major groups of the labor force rose significantly over the month, although total employment declined less than usual.

It also reported a rise in the state insured unemployment rate to its highest level since 1967.

For workers between 16 and 19 years old, the jobless rate rose 2 per cent over the month, up to 13.8. For men 20 years and older, the unemployment rate rose from 2.2 to 2.5 per cent, the highest level since mid-1967.

This increase hit hardest among men between 25 and 54, the government said. Many in this group lost their jobs in production cutbacks.

Nixon Studying Pollution; Seeks Healthy Conditions

CHICAGO (AP) — President Nixon and his Cabinet committee on environmental problems took a look at an innovative sewage plant today after viewing a sign saying "sewage 10 cents a glass" and getting a warm welcome on a chilly, windblown suburban airport.

The sign elicited a chuckle from the President at the Schaumburg Airport where, hatless and coatless, he plunged into a cheering crowd of 4,000, exchanging greetings and handshakes.

He spoke to the crowd briefly before he and his entourage, including governors of four states bordering Lake Michigan with whom he had an afternoon meeting scheduled, proceeded by car to the suburban Hanover Park sewage treatment plant that turns raw sewage into 99 per cent pure water.

"I am here to work with the governors for the younger generation... to see that it has a proper environment in the future," Nixon said.

"Clean water and clean air are what we are trying to achieve," he also stressed that the theme of his two-day visit to the Midwest is "trying to bring the government to the people, instead of the people to Washington."

He said "key decisions" would be made at his conference with the governors in the afternoon.

He invoked what he said is a new set of 3 R's to accomplish this: reform—bringing government and its institutions up to date, restoration—of environment, and renewal—of the spirit of the people and their faith in government.

The President's trip to the Midwest was viewed as part of a campaign to bring government closer to the people.

The President started trying to close the government-people gap after a conference with mayors of middle-sized cities in Indianapolis Thursday.

Reveal 'Discipline' Given From UMW to Yablonski

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five days before he was beaten at a rally, word was sent down from United Mine Workers headquarters "to discipline Jock Yablonski," a Senate group investigating the union has been told.

Joseph A. Yablonski Jr. told a Senate labor subcommittee Thursday the beating at a union rally in Springfield, Ill., was one of the first indications of the "reign of terror" that enveloped his late father's campaign for the union presidency and still haunts his family and supporters.

"I now go to sleep at night with a loaded pistol under my pillow," he said.

Yablonski, who unsuccessfully challenged incumbent UMW President A. W. "Tony" Boyle in the union's Dec. 9 election, was found shot to death with his wife and daughter at their Clarksville, Pa., home Jan. 5.

Three men, Paul Eugene Gilly, Aubran Wayne Martin and Claude Edward Vealey, have been charged in a Pennsylvania court with murder in the Yablonski deaths. Gilly's wife, Annette Lucy Gilly, was indicted by a federal grand jury in Cleveland Thursday and charged with interfering with the rights of a union member by force or violence, obstruction of justice and conspiring with others to interfere with a union member's rights by force or violence.

The slain unionist's son said his father accused Boyle of "playing Russian roulette with UMW pension funds" shortly after Boyle became a trustee of the union's welfare and retirement fund June 13.

Within days, Yablonski said, "word went down from Boyle to discipline Jock Yablonski, and don't worry how rough you are about it."

"Five days later, in Springfield, Ill., my father was beat up," he said.

Yablonski forces furnished the FBI with names of persons who attended the meeting and asked for an investigation, he said. At the same time, they requested FBI protection.

Kansas City Crash

Jefferson City (AP) — An ambitious proposal for a U. S. Forest and Recreation area of up to 60,000 acres, located in the triangle formed by the cities of Jefferson City, Columbia and Fulton, has received state and U. S. Forest Service approval.

It is also approved by the Secretary of Agriculture and the National Forest Reservation Commission, the U. S. Forest Service would begin acquiring an additional 40,000 acres in the area as funds are provided by Congress.

No landowner would have to sell to the Forest Service and all acquisitions would have to be on a willing seller-willing buyer basis.

An initial benefit would be to stop pollution of one of Missouri's potentially best small fishing streams, Cedar Creek. The plan calls for blocking the runoff from the old strip mines so it could not enter the stream.

The mined-out area, primarily located north of Interstate 70, would be rehabilitated as part of the program.

The state-federal agreement was announced jointly today by Rodney F. Young of Rolla, U. S. Forest supervisor of the Clark National Forest, and Joseph Jaeger Jr., state parks director and chairman of the State Inter-Agency Council for Outdoor Recreation.

Urban Policy of President Nixon is Beginning to Take Shape

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three approaches dominate the emerging Republican urban-aid strategy President Nixon is trying to sell the nation's governors this week.

Break up rather than rebuild city ghettos; give the poor money not services; and have local government, industry and volunteers—not Washington—do the work.

The President has not yet formally stated his policy for cities. But the outlines have become clear in recent weeks from hints, suggestions, omissions and roadmarkers contained in the administration's budget requests and actions.

Presidential adviser Daniel P. Moynihan came closest to an administration statement Thursday when he outlined a 10-point program on urban policy stressing the essence of the three points.

He said, however, he was not giving an official position on urban policy, which he said was an evolving sort of thing, not a hardened document.

Nixon himself told a Chicago audience Thursday it is time to return power from the federal government to the grass roots.

The most significant idea seen in the administration's thinking is the clear abandonment of the Democrats' strategy of massive uplift and rebuilding for urban ghettos.

Gone is the doctrine of "maximum feasible participation" of the poor in decision making to dispel the feeling of slum impotence.

Gone too is the prospect of large federal outlays for urban renewal and model cities—the concentrated slum rebuilding program.

Satirical Column Pokes At Ambiguity of Church

NEW YORK (AP) — A Jesuit priest said to his bishop: "Your Excellency, an official of your chancery office has informed my superior that I am not to take part in any more racial demonstrations. I would like to know whether this was done with your knowledge and approval."

The bishop: "Father, it was done without my knowledge but with my approval."

That's the sort of ecclesiastical ambiguity and absurdity, collected mostly from church publications and parish bulletins and sent in by readers, which are the object of zesty, often peppery satire in a lighthearted column "Cry Pax!"

Subtitled "A Column Without Rules," it appears in the National Catholic Reporter, an independent weekly published in Kansas City, and it gleefully lampoons each week's accumulated accounts of oddities and inanities in the church.

A selection of the, "The Best

Rev. Ron R. Morris, associate director of programming and personnel for the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Kansas City, will be the Valentine Banquet speaker Feb. 13, at 6:30 p.m. at First Baptist Church, Sixth and Lamine. Listed in "Who's Who in America's Colleges and Universities" he is president of the Methodist Student Movement.

Former Jewish Prisoner Wants His Israeli Home

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — He is there; he is here. He is burnt ashes, he is a living man. He must be nearing 50, but he is young, in a new era. "My age is 20," he said, rejecting ordinary time reckonings. "Everything before then is burned, a cinder."

Yet it still exists, too, for him, when he returns to it, in a kind of lonely, disciplined withdrawal into another reality. Sometimes just talking about it leaves him unable to eat for several days.

"It's another world," he said. "Because he experienced it, yet also embraces the present, conversation with him is almost like talking with two men, with Yehiel De-Nur, a warmhearted Jewish writer from Israel, and with Ka-Tzetnik 135633, the concentration camp number that identified him at Auschwitz."

"That cycle of fire is silent now," he said. "But it still exists. Every deed—good or evil—is a fingerprint in the world's air. The smoke of millions of lives, of a million children put alive in the ovens, still is in the air. It cries out in our own sky. It is not lost."

Its cry re-echoes in the present Arab pressure on Israel.

he said, and he and his wife have sparked a dramatic, spreading movement in their homeland to bring Jews and Arabs together in private homes for evenings of talk and friendship to try to overcome the harsh barriers of hostility.

"We are neighbors," he said. "We must live together in this world, this land. Let us live as brothers."

If reconciliation does not come, he added, if a Jewish country cannot be sustained in the circle of Arab states, then "there is no place left."

"I have to go back to Auschwitz," he said, seeming to revert to that other experience of an entire people. "There is no country where I have not been burned and bled and thrown out. If now, I am to be thrown out of Palestine, then there is nowhere to go, except back to Auschwitz."

People want to forget that holocaust, he said, to blot it from awareness, but man must face the fact of his own actions, including his horrors, in order to be healed, and that is why Ka-Tzetnik 135633 writes under that grim name his "chronicles from the planet auschwitz."

He does so through novels, six of them; so far, including "House of Dolls," which has sold more than five million copies in 15 languages, and his latest, issued by Harper and Row, called "Phoenix Over the Galilee."

It is a haunting, symbolic story of the exile's return to Israel after centuries of wandering and persecution. A broken, human remnant of Auschwitz, like himself, is restored by the power of love of his ancestral homeland as conveyed through a Sabra girl.

In recapturing the deadly pall of the concentration camps, "I'm not De-Nur," the author said. "My eyes, my hands, my head, my consciousness have to go back to Auschwitz." He goes off alone for his work, keeping with him the old concentration camp uniform which he wore for two years before escaping in 1945 from a death march to be shot.

"Every thread in its speaks to me," he said. "I must drink at that other planet out of which I write. I cannot be De-Nur. I cannot look at it with a normal man's mind."

Yet it was carried out by men, by his own species, he added. "Auschwitz was not done by an animal, but by human beings, in my image. The world runs away from that. It is a reflection on man's very self. He is too weak for it, and so he runs away, so he will not see it."

But it is an indelible truth, stamped in human annals, as well as on a generation of victims, he said, adding: "I feel I must be on being that race as long as the world is not awakened to the crucifixion of a whole people the way it was awakened by the crucifixion of a single man."

Besides the stark shadow it lays on history, he said, the mass decimation of humankind also has continuing reflections

Wrap Up An Audit In Town

HOUSTONIA — State
auditors have only "odds and ends" to wrap up in their audit of Houstonia's books, state auditor Haskell Holman said Friday.

The auditors have been at work since November on a 5-year audit of the city's books, ordered after a signed petition was presented to the state auditor requesting the audit.

Holman said the audit is taking a little longer than usual because it covers a 5-year period, stating that most audit requests are for three years.

Reaction to The Democrat-Capital's latest article on the audit has been immediate from Houstonia residents. Both Mrs.
Robert Severe and Mrs. Dick Schenewark denied Friday making statements attributed to them in Thursday's Democrat and Friday's Capital.

Followup stories on the Houstonia audit were begun by The Democrat-Capital after several Hot Line letters were received from Houstonians regarding the audit procedure and cost.

Holman told The Democrat-Capital that 37 persons had signed the audit petition, representing at least 5 per cent of those voting in the last gubernatorial election.

The state auditor added that the results of the audit may not be known for several weeks.
"But our experience in these matters is that whatever is feared usually hasn't occurred," he added.

After remaining steady at 3.5
hours for three consecutive months, factory overtime declined to 3.2 hours, with the drop concentrated in the dura-

The average hourly earnings for all production and nonsuper-visory workers on private pay-rolls rose two cents in January to $3.14, up 20 cents from a year ago. But because of what the department called the usual January drop in the work week, average weekly earnings fell by 81 cents to $116.81. Over the year, average weekly earnings increased by 6.56 or six per cent.

ed by Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin before going on to the Forest Reservation Commission.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes gave his approval of the project in a letter to Secretary Hardin last Wednesday.

He said "I trust this proposal will be acted on favorably by the National Forest Reservation Commission and the plans soon can be implemented for relieving the pollution of Cedar Creek."

The area encompasses the University of Missouri's wildlife management area, Little Dixie that is managed by the Conservation Department and dozens of forest tracts already owned by the federal government.

In announcing the proposal,
Jaeger and Young said:

"Outdoor recreation including camping, boating, hunting, picnicking and trail systems would be provided. Several water impoundments would be constructed and serve as water-oriented recreation areas for people and animals. Food and habitat programs for all forms of wildlife would be accelerated.

Ann Landers

Roman Orgy Not To Her Interest

Dear Ann Landers: Do I owe our host and hostess an apology? George and I were invited to dinner by a couple we knew only casually through George's work. The dinner was in their home — just the four of us. After dinner our host brought out his "hobby." I was speechless when he displayed a folder with about 150 photographs of naked people. There were pictures of men and women together, groups of two, three, four and six. Some pictures included animals — in living color. I thought I'd die.

George couldn't get his eyes full enough. The other couple seemed very pleased with his interest. I just sat there. Finally the wife said to me, "Apparently you don't appreciate art." I replied, "Art, yes. Pornography, no."

Our host then launched into a lecture about erotic masterpieces going back to ancient Greece and Rome. I started to say something about Sodom and Gomorrah and George nudged me and whispered, "Button your lip. I'm having a ball."

On the way home he read me the riot act because I was "rude." George says, when in Rome you're supposed to do as the Romans do. Is he right? — George's Square Wife.

Dear Wife: It depends on what the Romans are doing. In my opinion, your husband owes you an apology for subjecting you to such an evening. Tell George that in the future he's not to take you to places where the people are so mentally bankrupt that they have to haul out dirty pictures because they are too dumb to think of anything to say.

Dear Ann Landers: Billy is the youngest of three boys, small for his age and not inclined toward athletics, which makes his father angry. The older boys excelled in sports so the comparison is glaring. Billy likes poetry and plays the piano beautifully but his father considers this sissy stuff and belittles him. He is also an excellent student, which the other boys were not, but he gets no praise from his dad on this score.

To complicate matters, Billy has a noticeable lisp. I was told he might outgrow it, but he hasn't. Last night Billy asked his father to pass the salt and this was the response: "Yeth, I will path the 'halt, if you will thtop lithering."

The older boys faked a weak laugh but it was apparent they didn't think it was funny. Billy had all he could do to fight back the tears. I was heartsick. This is only one incident among many. How can I protect the boy against his father's cruelty? — Ohio M.

Dear M.: That bully husband of yours is in need of counseling. If he refuses, I hope you will go instead and learn how to be a buffer between father and son without coddling the boy and damaging him further.

I urge you take Billy to a speech therapist. Lispering can be conquered with proper help. And good luck to him, and to you, too, dear.

Confidential To Victim Too Many Times: It has been said that we cannot prevent the swallows of sorrow from flying over our heads but we don't have to let them make nests in our hair.

Says Crime U. S. Price For Social Injustices

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Crime is the price the nation is paying for the poverty and social isolation of its minorities, says presidential counselor Daniel P. Moynihan.

Moynihan put the goal of ending those ills at the top of a list of priorities in a new national urban policy.

President Nixon's chief urban adviser unveiled the policy Thursday before a select meeting of nine mayors from medium-sized U.S. cities, the President and his Urban Affairs Council.

"If you want to get rid of crime, get rid of poverty and racial isolation," said Moynihan after the closed-door meeting.

"And don't kid yourself, the correlation is absolute."

Asked whether Moynihan's views were shared by the President, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler replied, "I've never known the President and Dr. Moynihan to be too far apart in their points of view on these matters."

Moynihan said the statement represented present thinking within the administration and did not represent final conclusions.

After placing the elimination of poverty and racial isolation at the top of his list, Moynihan listed nine other goals:

—Restoring urban balance by seeking total development of metropolitan areas.

—Strengthening local government so it can become more efficient and meaningful to city dwellers.

—Restoring fiscal vitality to the cities by such means as the sharing of federal revenues which the Nixon administration has proposed.

—Equalizing public services in different government jurisdictions.

—Focusing special attention on the mass movement of people from the country-side to the city and from the city to the suburbs.

—Supporting state involvement in urban affairs.

—Developing a more efficient system for state, local and private involvement in meeting the goals the federal government hopes to achieve.

—Seeking ways to preserve the environment.

The book recounts the story of diplomacy in Washington from the Jefferson administration to the present time.

Several interesting and amusing anecdotes from Washington's diplomatic history that appear in the book were described by Mrs. Gepford.

Mrs. Gepford concluded her review by stating that Americans should be above partisan politics and try to understand what it means to live in a free country, since freedom is hard to keep.

Winter is Good Season To Polish Doubletalk

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — The dull winter months are a good time to brighten up your conversational ability.

The best way, probably, is to spend an hour or so a day rehearsing your skill at using double talk.

Double talk, the art of saying one thing while thinking just the opposite, is the backbone—or is jawbone—the word I'm seeking?—of social communication today.

While double talk is sometimes denounced as hypocritical, it is one of the chief cements that hold society together. If the truth be told, none of us really wants all the time to be told the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. That would be too disillusioning and unpalatable to the ego.

Here are a few typical examples of double talk, followed in each case by what the speaker actually was thinking:

"My wife and I have decided against taking a winter cruise to the Caribbean this year. After all winter at home can be fun." —I couldn't steal enough from the office petty cash fund to make the trip.

"Our son is staying out of college this semester in order to solve his identity crisis." —He flunked in three subjects.

"No, I don't think any of us have heard that one, boss. Why don't you go ahead and tell it." —If I have to listen to that motheaten joke again, I'm going to ask for overtime.

"This is not just another campaign promise. It is a pledge to the people." —After the election, I'll forget the whole matter.

"Of course, you can trust me utterly. Wild horses couldn't force me to whisper a word of this to anybody." —I'd rather shout it from the nearest rooftop.

"Yes, Winifred, it is a lovely engagement ring. And the diamond in it—why, it must have cost your fiancé a fortune!" —If it was any smaller, I'd have to put on my bifocals to see it.

"Oh, this scarf? Well, it's a little souvenir I got in Vietnam, but if you don't mind, I'd rather not talk about how I got it—it brings back too many bitter memories." —When I tripped and fell, I broke the gin bottle.

"Certainly you can have a car of your own, young man but not until the day you've earned the money to buy it." —Why should I let this kid talk me out of a car at 17? I was 19 before I talked my old man into buying me one.

University Will Change Program

ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis University announced Wednesday it is restructuring its academic program to exclude the area of applied technology because of increasing financial burden.

To be eliminated beginning in 1972, said the Rev. Paul C. Reinert, school president, will be departments of civil, electrical and industrial engineering and engineering mechanics.

The changes are necessary, he said, because of a $12 million operating deficit the school would face over the next five years if it continues commitments to 11 schools.

A program characterized by "innovative, dynamic character and by the principles of a liberal education imbued with a Christian motivation and inspiration" will be the school's primary concern, he said.

In addition to the elimination of the engineering departments, the school will turn Parks College of Aeronautical Technology over to "other hands."

Coroner's Jury Rules on Murder

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A coroner's jury ruled Thursday that Dr. George Rowney, 49, of Sioux City, Iowa, died of multiple stab wounds and strangulation.

At an inquest in suburban Johnson County, Kansas, the jury heard testimony that Rowney was stabbed more than 140 times, and that death occurred sometime between 9:45 p.m. Sunday and 7:30 a.m. Monday.

The gynecologist's body was found Monday afternoon in a room at a Johnson County motel where he was staying while attending a seminar at the University of Kansas Medical Center.

...by the Car He Owns

Following their store and car window-smashing attack on downtown Chicago last October, which somehow failed to stir the lethargic, oppressed masses in America to revolution, members of the radical Weatherman faction of Students for a Democratic Society who had escaped arrest held a self-criticism session.

This is a regular practice faithfully observed by all good Communists and other fanatics.

It was agreed that the window-breaking had been a good idea. But some Weathermen objected, writes John Kifner in the New York Times magazine, that Volkswagens as well as "ruling-class" automobiles had been smashed during the orgy.

Now judging a person by the kind of car he owns can be about as useful as judging him by the color of his hair. Cadillacs may be seen parked in front of the shabbiest slum dwellings; some bank presidents drive Volkswagens.

If there were not already enough evidence, this example alone would illustrate how incredibly naive are some representatives of "the best-informed generation in history."

How did they get that way? Somewhere along the line a lot of young people have been misinformed or malinformed or not informed at all.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Bargain Loans at Washington Bank

WASHINGTON — The nation's hard-pressed borrowers, who are paying Pike's Peak interest on their bank loans, may like to know why the bankers always seem to get what they want out of Congress.

Bank welfare has become an almost constant preoccupation of a number of Congressmen who have made it their business to see that the banks are not deprived. And those who have championed the banking interests have been known, all too often, to turn up with easy loans, bank stocks and other financial benefits from the banks.

At the same time that less-blessed Americans are paying sky-high interest rates, for example, Congressmen can get bargain-rate loans from the dignified, encrusted National Bank of Washington.

There's no red tape involved in this cozy arrangement which is administered in Swiss-style secrecy by the Congressmen's own House bank.

Nevertheless, this column can now report that 6½ per cent loans, ranging as high as $13,200, are presently held by 124 Congressmen — including nine members of the House Banking and Currency Committee, which is supposed to be an impartial overseer of the nation's financial institutions. Of the nine, all but one have voted down the line for legislation beneficial to banks.

The committee members who have voted for the banking interests at the same time that they accepted cut-rate loans from the National Bank of Washington are:

Tom Bellville, D-Ala., Ben Blackburn, R-Ga., Bill Cowger, R-Ky., Tom Gettys, D-S.C., Charles Griffin, D-Miss., Seymour Halpern, R-N.Y., William Moorhead, D-Pa., and Robert Stephens, D-Ga.

Rep. Tom Rees, D-Calif., who also is in hock to the National Bank, has voted usually against bank-backed legislation.

—Halpern the Winner—

Halpern is the deepest in debt to the banks. In addition to his 6½ per cent loan from the National Bank, he also has received easy money from the First National City Bank, Chase Manhattan, Long Island Trust Co., Oneida National Bank & Trust, Flushing National Bank, Royal National Bank of New York, Central State Bank, United National

This is a two-volume compendium listing 35,550 occupations from A&E (aircraft and engine) mechanic to zylo mounter (one who sets lenses in eyeglass frames).

Many of the titles would stump the "What's My Line?" panel at its sharpest. Here are a few that caught the eyes of editors at the National Geographic Society:

"A 'snow flicker' sounds like a winter-loving cousin of the yellow-bellied sapsucker, but he's really a guy who keeps parking meters open for coins by removing snow and ice. No kidding.

Similarly, a "snowman" chips ice and frost from refrigerator coils.

An "inflation tester" doesn't conduct surveys of food prices. He inspects balloons and rubber gloves on the production line.

A "crabber" may or may not be hard to get along with as he tends textile equipment. A "gin clerk" never imbibes on his job — keeping track of cotton bales.

A "frog shaker" has nothing against the little amphibians. He just helps process tobacco. A "chamberman" is not a valet to the king. He makes sulphuric acid.

The catalogue is constantly changing as new jobs are created and old ones are upgraded with fancier titles.

For example, in some parts of the country dishwashers are known as "utensil maintenance men" and bill collectors have somehow been transformed into "guidance workers."

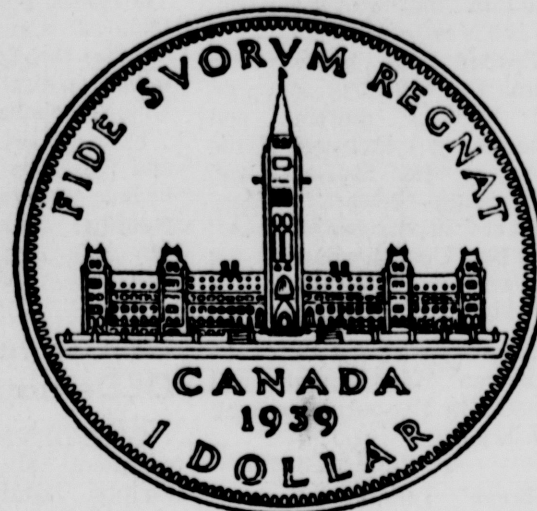

It's all in a day's work.

World Coin Market

Canadian Commemorative Dollar

The 1939 silver dollar is one of the few commemorative pieces issued by the Dominion of Canada and the last silver coin struck between 1939 and 1945 at the Royal Mint. It was minted in honor of a visit to Canada that year by King George VI and Queen Elizabeth.

The obverse, bearing the likeness of the late king, is not unlike all dollars issued during his reign, but the reverse is unusual when compared with other Canadian designs in that, for the first time in her history, Canada pays tribute to the entire block of Parliament buildings in Ottawa.

In spite of the fact that this particular piece was coined in the largest quantity of any dollar until 1958, Charlton's 1970 "Standard Catalogue of Canadian Coins, Tokens and Paper Money" lists it at $4 in very good condition, $7 in very fine and $18 for an uncirculated specimen. No proofs or prooflike coins were issued in 1939.

Foreign Coins Prohibited in the U.S.

Coinage issued as a circulating medium or for purposes of commemoration by Red China, North Korea, North Vietnam or Cuba may not be imported into the United States no matter how acquired. This is a ruling handed down by the Office of Domestic Gold and Silver Operations of the Treasury Department.

Tourists, returning servicemen and their families would be well-advised to consider the following in the event such pieces fall into their possession:

"There are no restrictions upon the importation of coins in any metal other than gold except that the acquisition or importation of any coins of any metal issued by mainland China or North Korea, or any coins which were held in either of these areas on or after Dec. 7, 1950, is prohibited under Foreign Assets Control Regulations.

"Similarly, the acquisition or importation of any coins of any metal issued by North Vietnam on or after May 5, 1964, is prohibited under Foreign Assets Control Regulations. In addition, the importation of coins issued by Cuba at any time, or any coins which were held in Cuba on or before Feb. 7, 1962, is prohibited under the Cuban Assets Control Regulations.

"Both the Foreign Assets Control Regulations and the Cuban Assets Control Regulations are administered by the Office of Foreign Assets Control in the Treasury Department. Transactions prohibited under these regulations may not be engaged in in the absence of a Treasury license."

South looked at the dummy and the trump lead. The dummy was all right but he didn't approve of the trump lead. Then he remarked, "If I want trumps led, I'll lead them myself," and proceeded to play two more rounds of trumps.

Then he cashed his king of clubs, led another trump and continued with a low diamond to dummy's nine. East won and led a spade. South took the ace, led a second diamond to dummy's ace, discarded a spade on the ace of clubs and played dummy's last diamond.

If diamonds had broken 3-3 or if East had discarded a diamond on the third or fourth round of trumps, South would have made his contract. Unfortunately for South, East had started with four diamonds and hung on to all of them so South failed to make his game.

South blamed North for not bidding three no-trump which would have been a laydown. Then he blamed West for opening a trump. East for hanging onto all his diamonds and the gods of chance for never giving him a break.

Actually the only person really to blame was himself.

South should have realized that when both sides play trumps one is sure to be wrong. He should have taken his king of clubs at trick two, led a diamond to dummy's ace at trick three, discarded a spade on the ace of clubs at trick four and led a second diamond at trick five.

Either opponent could win and play a second trump, whereupon South would play a third diamond. East would win that and be unable to lead a third trump so South would get to ruff his fourth diamond for the 10th trick.

This line of play gave the extra chance that the same player would not hold both the long diamonds and the long trumps.

U.S. to Drop Role Of World Guardian

By LEON DENNEN

NEA Foreign News Analyst

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — Disengagement, military and political, is the dominant theme of President Nixon's evolving foreign policy.

While the United States will be faithful to its international treaty commitments, "we shall reduce our involvement and our presence in other nations' affairs," the President said in his message to Congress.

This does not mean a retreat to American isolationism — as some European and Asian leaders fear — since the United States nuclear umbrella will continue to shield the non-Communist nations against major acts of aggression.

But it does mean that the Nixon administration has come to the conclusion that, in the face of overwhelming domestic problems, the United States can no longer afford or needs to act as the world's policeman.

In many respects the "Nixon doctrine" is a fresh and flexible approach to international reality as it is some 25 years after the end of World War II. It is certainly a basic reappraisal of East-West tensions, the disarray in the Communist world and the emerging new climate in international relations.

The "doctrine" also tells us a great deal about the pragmatic philosophy of the 37th president who first emerged on the political arena as an irreconcilable opponent of the Communists.

Nixon, it is increasingly clear, no longer sees the Red world as a monolithic bloc but as a group of nations which, despite their common Marxist-Leninist ideology, have distinct and powerful national and regional interests to which the United States must from time to time adapt its own policies.

Thus, he no longer seeks confrontations with the Communist states but visits them, example: Romania. He no longer wants to roll them back but encourages them to become partners in genuine peaceful coexistence.

"If we are to have peace in the last third of the 20th century, a major factor will be the development of a new relationship between the United States and the Soviet Union," Nixon said.

He would like to come to terms with Moscow by means of specific negotiations on the limitation of nuclear arms, the Middle East, the Berlin problem and Europe generally.

However, the United States does not intend to go it alone. The President made it clear that he will at all times consult the NATO allies and on no account work against their interests.

But the best course, in Nixon's view, is for the NATO nations themselves to assume forceful leadership while the United States maintains a cooperative role.

Similarly in Asia. While urging the Asians to become self-reliant, the administration will continue its efforts to bring the Red Chinese out of their self-imposed isolation and improve relations with Peking.

To be sure, it takes two or more sides to end world tensions. A détente will not be easily achieved as long as Moscow and Peking actively pursue goals dictated by their Marxist-Leninist creed and world revolutionary strategy.

However, all available evidence leads to the conclusion that both Russia and Chinese rivals will lose some of their revolutionary zeal while they undermine each other's prestige.

This undoubtedly accounts a great deal for Nixon's optimistic prediction that "America may have the best chance since World War II to enjoy a generation of uninterrupted peace."

Barring a Russian-Chinese war, a sort of "triangular balance" between the United States, Russia and China seems likely to take shape in the last decades of this century.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Proper Chewing of Food Cleanses Coated Tongue

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—What is the cause and cure of coated tongue?
A—The cause is a failure to chew thoroughly such tongue-cleansing foods as toast, nuts and raw fruits and vegetables. The coating is merely a layer of dead cells and not an indication of any disease.

Q—What would cause a black coating on my tongue? Is it serious?
A—This type of coating is caused by a fungus infection. It is not serious, but, if it can't be removed in a week or two by brushing your tongue with a toothbrush, you should see your doctor.

Q—What would cause my tongue to be swollen and sore? My doctor says I have glossitis. What is the best treatment for it?
A—Glossitis is an inflammation of the tongue. It may be caused by a deficiency of vitamin B, sprue or pernicious anemia. The key to successful treatment is discovery of the cause.

Q—A few weeks ago, my husband noticed that the cracks in his tongue are getting deeper. What causes this? Is it serious?
A—In the absence of any soreness, this is of no significance.

Q—I have had a geographic tongue off and on for four months. How can I get rid of it?
A—This is a common and harmless condition which clears up spontaneously but may come back from time to time. The beauty part is that no one will know you have it unless you tell them and then they won't believe you unless you show it to them.

Q—I am an active 70. In the last year, I have had too much saliva and, when I lie down at night, I drool. My doctor says it is caused by an imbalance in my nervous system. What do you think?
A—Salivation may be caused by taking drugs that contain mercury, iodine, bromine, arsenic or potassium chlorate, excessive smoking, diseases of the mouth or gums, indigestion and anemia. If your trouble stems from one or more of these causes, elimination of the cause will help you.

Q—My cholesterol level is 300. My doctor says I shouldn't eat any animal fats or eggs. I love eggs. Would four a week hurt me?
A—Since the normal cholesterol level is 160 to 230, you should follow your doctor's advice. But you could eat just the whites of the eggs and give the yolks to a member of the family with a normal cholesterol.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Looking Backward

NINETY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The Union depot of the M. K. & T. in Sedalia has a liberal share of loafers who occupy the waiting room to sit or sleep while paying passengers await trains. The evil became so unendurable that Superintendent Frey appointed Peter Vollmer a special policeman to eject those who had no right there. A universal howl of protest arose from the unfortunates who were turned out. Later a warning sign was effaced with coal soot. After Vollmer lit the fire yesterday morning and left the depot, upon his return he found the fire all out. The stove had been carefully filled with a liberal supply of ice from the water cooler.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Mrs. William H. Cloney, who with Mr. Cloney will depart soon for New York preparatory to a trip abroad, was guest of honor at a "bon voyage" luncheon bridge with Mrs. Charles E. Messerly of the Messerly Apartments, as hostess. Guests were members of the Original Tuesday bridge club. Mrs. W. M. Johns, Mrs. George Trader and Mrs. C. W. Flower substituted for absent members.

Have Frayed Rugs?
Here's How to Fix Them

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—I know of two ways that Shirley could bind her frayed rugs. First, before it frays, I put that all-purpose milky white glue all around the carpet edges. Be sure to rub it in with your fingers through the pile and backing all around. Lay carpet flat, let dry and it should be perfect. I use this method on carpet scraps and they last a long time as rugs.

Or she could use the carpet tape that irons on. I have cut such binding in half, folded it and then ironed the binding placed over the carpet. However, the best way is to put the full width on the back of the carpet, being sure the edge of the binding is straight before applying heat. Place a piece of cloth over the binding to protect your iron and have pins ready in case you need them for keeping the tape in place. This carpet tape comes in several colors.—NELLIE

DEAR POLLY—Shirley can bind her carpet edges by using four-ply yarn in a matching color. With a crewel needle, make buttonhole stitches about one-third-inch deep and close together all around the rug or just around the frayed portion.—MRS. C. L. B.

DEAR POLLY and Shirley—I have done a lot of rug binding. I sew a strip of carpet binding along the edge of the carpet on the top side by hand using heavy carpet thread. Turn the binding over to the back and sew again. I whip over and over on the wrong side. This is tedious but worth-while and no stitches should show on the right side.—ETHEL

DEAR POLLY—I needed some cracked ice to fill a thermos and could not find the ice pick to break up the cubes. I noticed the nut cracker in the drawer, tried using it and will never use an ice pick again as the cracker worked so well.—PAULINE

DEAR POLLY—The satin pillowcases certainly do wonders in keeping one's hair-do in place but I find them expensive to buy so make my own. I bought just enough satin to cover one side of each pillowcase. Lay the case flat, lay the width of satin on top of it and pin in place with the edges turned under. Stitch through these three thicknesses. This way only the one side is satin covered, which is all I need. I wash mine every three days. I made two and I always have a clean one handy.—JUANITA

Roadrunners Drop WMA On the Road

LEXINGTON — The State Fair Community College Roadrunners ran their record to 12-6 with a 77-52 win over the cadets of Wentworth Military Academy of Lexington Thursday night.

All players that made the trip for SFCC cagers saw action and aided in the 12th win of the season for Head Roadrunner Coach Fred Wehking, who was forced to run a half mile following the contest.

Wehking made the comment that if they held the opponents below 55 points he would run the half mile distance. As the score indicates, it was round and round the indoor track for the SFCC mentor.

Roadrunner John Nelson did an outstanding defensive job on Gary Hahn, the cadets pivot man, especially in the second half.

Gayland Lightfoot led the visitors with 18 rebounds, while Nelson dumped in 19 points to pace the SFCC scoring ledger.

Two other State Fair cagers hit in double figures; Gene Wimsatt tossed in 15, while Lightfoot followed with 13.

Jerry Wright turned in another outstanding defensive effort on the Red Raiders back court standout, Bob Gibson.

Wright only allowed three points to be scored against him by Gibson during the time Wright was guarding him.

The Roadrunners enjoyed good bench strength and a respectable mark for the charity stripe by completing 14 of 20.

The defensive effort by the State Fair quintet in the second half only allowed the hosts a total of 15 percent from the field, after Wentworth had hit at a rate of 30 per cent in the first half.

On the other hand, SFCC netted in marks of 44 per cent in the first half, but dropped to 39 per cent in the second stanza.

State Fair also held the edge at half time, 43-28.

The next encounter for the Roadrunners will be a home date with the Unicorns of Kansas City Metropolitan Junior College, Monday.

hartbeats by vaughn hart sports editor

English workmen of the middle 11th century appear to have originated the football idea by the rather ghastly process of kicking around the skull of one of the Danes who had been part of the army from Denmark which conquered England around 1017 A.D.

Football in the United States got its test in 1869, when Rutgers and Princeton squared off at one another in the initial intercollegiate football contest.

But, at that time the form of "football" was known as soccer style or a varied form of rugby.

Today, football is almost as American as apple pie. It is the most speculated sport of any in the United States. It is played on almost every age level, from sand lots to the professional war fields like Municipal Stadium in Kansas City.

A newly organized group of Sedalians has come between the crossfire of pro and cons in regard to their effort to set up an organization known as Sedalia Junior League Football.

Most notably, some individuals for and against the setup have spoken from the professional ranks of the local medical field.

A letter one week ago from Dr. Elliot Braverman, a prominent Sedalia orthopedic surgeon, casting some negative points on the group brought a quick rebuttle from Dr. Robert Glass of 1501 South Grand.

Both letters had much value in their content and the statements toward the junior league program should not be taken with a grain of salt.

The initial letter from Dr. Braverman compared the operation of the football program to that of Khoury League Soccer.

Certainly soccer conditions some parts of the body better than football could, but the situation also works in reverse: Football conditions many parts of the body that are exercised little by playing soccer.

A very important point that Dr. Braverman made was the fact that sponsoring a program such as this purely for the reason of developing players for the high school systems was altogether wrong and something that he would not endorse.

A good point for all of us to remember.

When an organization of this type is set up, many times we tend to develop the feeling that winning is above all, the most important thing.

An organization such as this, one that deals with young boys should put a much higher emphasis on conditioning and sportsmanship rather than the final score.

This is not to say that winning is not important; winning is important, but at this age level, winning should not be stressed to a great extent.

A boy can be taught the values and the importance of winning an athletic contest, without losing the more important concepts of the fundamentals in sports competition.

This is a point that Dr. Glass made in his letter that appeared in Sunday's paper. "Above all, good coaching and officiating are needed to insure that the desire to excel is subjugated to a respect for rules and ethics."

Dr. Braverman made the comment that more risks are involved in playing football rather than playing soccer.

This may be true, but a deep study in statistics would have to be conducted to prove that point one way or the other.

But, the question is not soccer; the point at hand, seems to me, will the young boys who participate in a football program of this type, gain some beneficial aspects for the organization?

The obvious answer is yes, but even that answer has some limitations.

Simply, if the program is not conducted right, more danger could develop than benefits that were anticipated.

As far as the higher amount of danger involved, it seems to me that that would depend upon in administration of the activity itself, which leads directly back to the governing body of the organization.

Palmer is Golfer of Decade

NEW YORK (AP) — Arnold Palmer, whose boyish charm and faculty for miraculous comebacks sent professional golf into a multi-million-dollar spiral, was chosen today Athlete of the Decade.

The 40-year-old fairway slugger from the little mill town of Latrobe, Pa., beat out Bill Russell, towering basketball star of the Boston Celtics, in a nationwide poll of sports writers and broadcasters to select the top performer of the 1960s.

It was a victory for personal magnetism.

Although he did not dominate the game as thoroughly as Bob Jones in the 1920s, Byron Nelson in the 1940s and Ben Hogan in the 1950s and failed to overshadow his rivals as did men in other fields, no individual made such an impact on golf and the sports world generally during the period.

Arnie received 231 of 655 votes in a poll by The Associated Press, with Russell a close second with 194.

The blue ribbon personalities of the nation's major spectator sports—pro football and baseball—trailed far behind these two men, each a legend of his time.

Sandy Koufax, the left-handed pitching ace of the Dodgers, was third with 56 votes, followed by Johnny Unitas of the Baltimore Colts, outstanding in a dazzling parade of football quarterback, 47, and Mickey Mantle, the home run punch of the New York Yankees, 43.

Rounding out the Top Ten, in order, were Willie Mays, baseball; Bart Starr, football; Jim Brown, football; Wilt Chamberlain, basketball, and Bobby Hull, hockey.

Palmer became the epitome of the modern athlete—part actor, part ham, sports idol and business tycoon. He turned into the darling of the TV tube.

He is perfectly equipped for the role.

He has the build of a professional golfer, he has the build of a light heavyweight fighter with powerful sloping shoulders, arms like wagon tongues and the calloused hands of a blacksmith. He represents the new bold generation of golfer—the go-for-broke swinger who disdains style and hazards, sledge-hammers courses into submission and makes birdies and eagles the target instead of pars.

When he strikes a ball, it is pure thunder.

Tigers Venture To Mexico For CEMO Contest

The Smith-Cotton Tigers swing back into action Saturday night with a road contest at Mexico.

The game is a conference contest for the two Central Missouri loop competitors.

Thus far this season, the Tigers have lost all three of their Central Missouri Conference outings, but have managed to push their overall mark to a respectable 10-6.

Expected to pace Coach Jim Dinsdale's Tiger attack are guards Bob Logan and Steve Chip Thompson or Steve Gerlecz along with forwards Jim Lewis and Steve Herzberg.

Center duties will go to either John Knapp or Gary Pirtle.

Mexico is only standing 1-3 in Central Missouri action; they defeated Columbia early in the season but have been handed losses by Hannibal, Jefferson City and they lost the second outing of the year against the Hickman High squad.

Coach Lynn Cundiff has four returning lettermen from a 23-5 season in 1968-69.

They include Clyde Williams (6'4"), Warren Williams (6'6"), Charles Fountain (6'3") and Steve Leeper (6').

Three other seniors are listed on the squad: Jim Kallenback, Jim Simpson and Joe Meyers at 6'2", 6'4" and 6'5" respectively.

The next contest for S-C will be another in a series of their many road encounters when they return the conference tilt with Jefferson City Feb. 13.

St. Louis Golfer Takes Second Day Hope Lead

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) —The marathon Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic swung into the 54-hole phase today, with 36 more to go, and leading the way through the wreckage of par was Larry Ziegler, a young man who would just as soon watch ice hockey as play golf.

The tall, blond, 30-year-old Ziegler, from Terre Du Lac, Mo., which is somewhere near St. Louis, broke out of a first-round deadlock with a seven-under par 65 Thursday and went into this third round with scores 67-65-132.

It gave Ziegler a three stroke lead over Australian Bruce Devlin, who had 67-68-135. Tied at 137 were ex U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino, 70-67, and Moon Mullin, who followed a 72 with a 65, a competitive course record for the La Quinta Country Club.

The bigger names in the tournament were down the line a bit—Arnold Palmer 71, and Chi Chi Rodriguez, 70 in the 139 group, and Bill Casper in a tie at 140 after a 69.

Of the five who tied in the first round, only Ziegler and Devlin, the one-time master plumber, remained prominent. Bob Rosburg skidded to 142 with a 75 and Charles Coody and Labron Harris to 141 each with a 74.

Gallery interest was heightened with the expectation that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew might compete as one of the 408 amateurs in the field. The vice president originally was teamed with the host—Hope—and Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif.

Agnew is definitely set to play Saturday when the amateurs wind up their four rounds, giving way to the pros for their final fling Sunday. Both the Saturday and Sunday rounds will be nationally televised by the National Broadcasting Co.

Ziegler, who won—and finally collected —$20,000 in the Michigan Classic last fall — has one particular goal.

"I'd like to win here so I can take a break and take in the Stanley Cup hockey playoffs," Ziegler said, explaining that while he could never learn to skate he has a deep passion for the game.

Ziegler played Indian Wells' short but tight course in 33-32-65. He banged out five birdies and finished the day with an eagle-three on the 18th hole. He hit a four-wood 25 feet from the cup and holed the putt.

Technical Foul Leads To No. Carolina Upset

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Oh, those technical fouls. They are the bane of college basketball coaches.

One was called on Dean Smith, University of North Carolina coach at Winston-Salem, N.C., Thursday night and it led to an 88-85 upset of the nationally seventh-ranked Tar Heels by the unranked Wake Forest Deacons in the last minute of play.

Charlie Davis, a 6-foot-1 native New Yorker, capped a brilliant 41-point performance with three straight free throws, including one on the technical, that turned a one-point Wake Forest deficit into an 85-83 lead.

This came with 52 seconds on the clock and a basket by Dan Ackley with 36 seconds left sewed it up for the Deacons.

Referee Ralph Stout called a foul against Eddie Fogler of North Carolina that led to the technical.

"When Stout called the foul against Eddie, I stood up," Smith said later. "Stout looked at me as I put my hand to my neck. I didn't realize he had called a technical until the crowd roared. Certainly it hurt us when they got the extra point and the ball. It was the first time I have been called for a gesture."

"I thought Davis was great under pressure," praised Jack McCloskey, Wake Forest coach.

"I don't know why the technical was called, but I certainly would have to say that it was instrumental when you get one and the ball in such a close situation."

It was the second straight upset of North Carolina by Wake Forest. The Deacons shaded the Tar Heels 91-90 at Chapel Hill on Jan. 17.

There was another rumpus at Kent, Ohio, where Florida State turned an apparent 79-78 defeat by Kent State into an 80-79 victory after the crowd milled onto the floor thinking the game was over.

It developed that the timekeeper had not heard the referee's whistle for a timeout after Tom Lagodich's basket with three seconds left had put Kent State ahead.

After the floor was cleared Willie Williams hit a 20-foot jump shot as the buzzer sounded giving the 12th-ranked Seminoles the victory.

In other games involving teams in the Associated Press Top Twenty, No. 8 Jacksonville crushed East Carolina at Greenville, N.C. 111-94 and No. 16 Houston, playing at home, walloped St. Mary's of Texas, 118-75, thus gaining revenge for an earlier upset by St. Mary's.

Wyoming tightened the WAC conference race by beating first-place Utah 98-85 at Laramie. In two other home court triumphs, Colorado State U. downed Brigham Young 94-71 and Texas, El Paso, whipped New Mexico 74-59.

In the Missouri Valley Conference, Cincinnati defeated North Texas 84-69. St. Louis tripped Tulsa 79-63 and Wichita State snapped a nine game losing streak by beating Bradley 90-70. The Bearcats and Billikens played at home, Wichita on the road.

Manhattan beat NYU 69-60 for the first time in 11 years in the feature of a twin bill at New York's Madison Square Garden. Fordham put down Detroit 66-50 in the opener.

Rutgers beat Boston U. 98-77. Massachusetts took Rider 92-67. Santa Clara whacked Los Angeles Loyola 92-60 and Seattle whipped Oklahoma City 106-77. All were home court triumphs.

Three-Pointers Help

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For it's 1, 2, 3 points and you're out of the old American Basketball Association game.

The three-point field goal was a factor in both ABA games Thursday night as Denver trounced New Orleans 125-98 and Kentucky held off Pittsburgh 110-102.

Two quick three-pointers by Larry Jones in the third period broke open a fairly close game and boosted Denver to a 64-49 bulge over the Bucs. The victory enabled the red-hot Rockets to pull within 1½ games of pace-setting New Orleans in the Western Division.

Jones led all scorers with 29 points while Spencer Haywood had 28 and a like number of rebounds. Steve Jones led the losers with 19 points, 16 in the first half.

Kentucky saw an 11-point lead dwindle to one before bounding back to subdue Pittsburgh. With six minutes left, George Thompson scored nine of the Pipers' next 15 points as they trimmed a 96-85 deficit to 101-100.

But Darel Carrier made two free throws and Jim Ligon sank a driving layup to give the Colonels some breathing room. Kentucky built a 57-49 halftime lead chiefly on the shooting of Louis Dampier, who connected on five of eight three-pointers and scored 21 of his 37 points in the first half. Thompson and Arvest Kelly split 44 points for the Pipers.

Don Gutteridge Makes Initial Trip as Mentor

PITTSBURG, Kan. (AP) — On Saturday, Don Gutteridge will make his 33rd trip south for the opening of a professional baseball team's spring training camp.

But it will be different this time. It will be the Pittsburgh native's first spring training camp as a major league manager.

Gutteridge was named skipper of the Chicago White Sox in the American League last May to replace ailing Al Lopez. The White Sox will train at Sarasota, Fla.

And he is more than ready. "After Christmas, it begins to boil up inside of you," Gutteridge said at an interview at his home. "You start thinking and planning, making notes."

"This will be the youngest bunch we've ever had," he said. "There will be more instruction and detail work. So we'll have more rigid physical fitness work."

"They don't know yet how rugged it will be," Gutteridge said. "When I coached in the minor leagues, I always did this. We always got off to a good start."

Gutteridge praised another Pittsburgh native, young Bill Russell, who made it as a rookie outfielder with the Los Angeles Dodgers last year.

"Bill has a chance to be a superstar," he said.

"Years ago I told our scouts to come down here and take a look at Russell. But they said he didn't even play a high school schedule." Pittsburgh High has no baseball team.

"I really rubbed it in when he made good with the Dodgers," Gutteridge said.

Maryland State, 14-0, has the widest winning margin, 31.6 points a game and is the team offensive leader at 113.2 points. Fredonia, N. Y. State is best in defense, allowing 50.7 pts.

Bulls Are Dropped To Fifth

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Bulls had better snap out of their doldrums in the next couple of days or face the possibility of missing the National Basketball Association playoffs.

A 127-105 loss to the San Francisco Warriors Thursday night dropped the Bulls from third place into fifth place in the Western Division of the NBA as the Bulls suffered their 10th loss in their last 12 games.

Things, however, figure to get tougher for the Bulls over the weekend. The Bulls invade Atlanta Friday night to face the division leading Hawks and then come home Sunday for what turns out to be a doubleheader against the same Hawks.

The two teams will face off with a 124-124 tie and one second to play as the result of a protest game last Nov. 6. An official's ruling had disallowed a final second basket by Tom Boerwinkle which would have netted the tie but NBA Commissioner Walt Kennedy ruled in favor of the Bulls and thereby created the tie.

With one second to play, chances are the game will go into overtime and after a decision has been reached the two teams will engage in a regulation game.

The Bulls had hoped to gain ground against the Warriors Thursday night in the NBA's only game since San Francisco's Jeff Mullins, the team's leading scorer, had been ruled out for two weeks with a cracked bone in the right knee.

Chicago took a 7-2 lead but the Warriors bounced back to grab a 35-22 first quarter lead and then slugged their way to victory as Joe Ellis led the way with 26 points and Clyde Lee added 25. Jerry Lucas chipped in with 23 and pulled down 21 rebounds.

Bob Love was the Bulls' leading scorer with 26 points but got 17 of them in the final quarter when the Bulls were completely out of contention.

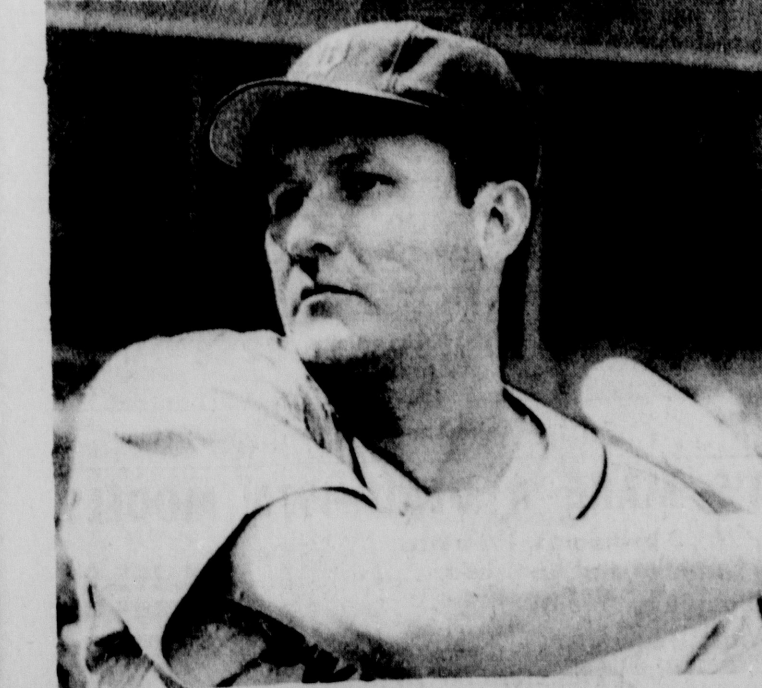

In addition to the Bulls' engagement at Atlanta, six other NBA games are scheduled Friday night. Detroit will be at Baltimore, Seattle at Boston, New York at Cincinnati, Milwaukee at Los Angeles, San Francisco at Phoenix and Philadelphia at San Diego.

Penn State Coach Moves to Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—Dan Radakovich, 34, linebacker coach for 13 years at Penn State University, today was named defensive coordinator and defensive line coach at the University of Cincinnati.

Radakovich replaces Sam Congie who resigned after one year with the Bearcats.

Radakovich has been coaching at Penn State since 1957. He played linebacker and center with the Nittany Lions from 1954 to 1956.

Bruins Win Easy; Wings Drop Leafs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Bruins are sailing smoothly through the National Hockey League's West Division and their success among the expansionists has kept them afloat in the NHL's East Division race.

The Bruins battered Philadelphia 5-1 Thursday night and moved back within three points of the idle New York Rangers in the East race. Montreal kept pace with Boston, whipping Los Angeles 5-3 to remain tied for second place.

In the only other NHL game played, Detroit defeated Toronto 4-1.

Boston's victory over the Flyers ran the Bruins' undefeated string against the West to 25 games—20 of them victories. Against the East, Boston's record is a mediocre 7-12 with six ties.

Bobby Orr, the NHL's leading scorer, paced the Bruins with two more goals and an assist, increasing his total to 80 points, a continuing record for NHL defencemen.

Orr's goals were his 18th and 19th of the season leaving him two short of his own record for a single season—the only scoring mark for a defenseman which he hasn't already shattered this season.

Garry Unger and Alex Delvecchio each scored one goal and set up another leading Detroit past Toronto.

The Red Wings fired 43 shots at Bruce Gamble, who had kicked out 42 the night before in shutting out St. Louis.

The victory moved the Wings three points ahead of idle Chicago in the battle for fourth place in the East. Toronto, last in the division, is 11 points back of Detroit.

The Canadiens took the Kings in a wild game that saw Montreal score three quick power play goals, two of them by Jean Beliveau, to take charge.

Must Stop 'Cats Quickly

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Kansas State's basketball team may be very fortunate to be atop the Big Eight standings, as Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons insists, but unless somebody puts a dent in the Wildcats' armor this weekend it may be too late to worry about luck.

The Wildcats, 6-0 in conference play, go to Colorado Saturday night and Iowa State Monday night. An even split would keep the Cats in charge in the Big Eight, and Fitzsimmons probably would settle for that.

"We've been very fortunate," Fitzsimmons said, "because we're next to last in the conference in free throw shooting, and free throws play one of the most vital parts in winning basketball games today.

"We hit 70 per cent of our free throws at Oklahoma State, and I was just happy as a lark because that won for us. Most coaches wouldn't be very happy shooting 70 per cent at the free throw line."

Good fortune aside, Kansas State has one ingredient few other Big Eight teams have — depth. The Wildcats' bench may be the most important factor in their favor.

"Our bench has been a big help to us," Fitzsimmons agreed. "We've got one excellent guard substitute in Terry Snider. He's our best defensive guard, and last Saturday in our crucial game with Missouri he came in the first half and scored 10 points.

"Our best defensive big man is David Lawrence, who is 6-foot-5. When you go to your bench and have your two best defensive players there, it is a giant lift for you."

Fitzsimmons also believes he has the Big Eight's two best sophomores in David Hall and Bob Zender. "They make their share of mistakes," he said, "but they're doing some real fine things for us."

Colorado, 2-4, finds itself on the verge of elimination as a Big Eight contender with the conference season only half over. Even if the defending champion Buffaloes win all the rest of their games, Kansas State would have to lose four of eight for the Buffs to tie.

Second-place Missouri, 4-2, goes to Iowa State, 3-4, and third-place Kansas, 3-2, travels to Nebraska, 2-3, in other Saturday night games. If Iowa State and Nebraska prevail at home, Kansas State would be strengthened regardless of the outcome at Boulder, Colo.

Oklahoma State, 2-4, plays at Oklahoma, 1-4, in the Big Eight's regionally televised Saturday afternoon game.

Stephen Austin College Coach Likes Top Ranking

NACOGDOCHES, Tex. (AP) — There's a fast gun in the East Texas piney woods that's willing to shoot baskets any time, any place with the UCLA's and Kentucky's of the basketball world.

"I don't think there's any of them we couldn't hold our own with," says Marshall Brown, coach of the Stephen F. Austin Lumberjacks. No. 1 rated small college outfit in The Associated Press poll.

The Lumberjacks have a gaudy 20-0 record and are 13-0 in Lone Star Conference play.

"UCLA looked tough on television too long ago," says Brown. "But I'm ready right now to play anybody, including UCLA."

Brown says he has contacted a number of major colleges. "But they won't play us. I guess they figure they've got nothing to gain and a lot to lose."

He says Texas A&M University has signed to play the Lumberjacks next year.

"We have to play down there," Brown says. "They won't make it on a home-and-home basis."

The Lumberjacks are a tremendously quick, hot-shooting team with one of the best defenses in the country.

Brown says "We've only allowed 71 points per game and we play a run-and-shoot offense and do a lot of substituting."

Haynsworth Defeat May Boost Carswell Position

WASHINGTON (AP) — G. Harrold Carswell's emerging triumph where Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. failed may be traced to at least three factors.

—Labor never worked itself up to a lather over Carswell.

—Stocks and bonds never held a fascination for the Florida judge.

—Politicians can afford to be mavericks just so many times.

And there probably is a fourth good reason. Something that may be called the pressure of the inevitable.

Carswell and Haynsworth started out on the road to Abe Fortas' seat on the Supreme Court with much in common.

Both are experienced federal judges. Both are Southerners with a conservative outlook.

Both offered the prospect of contributing to the balance President Nixon and Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell find lacking in the court.

But there are important differences, too.

Haynsworth is a shy man, afflicted with a stammer that made his testifying before the Senate Judiciary Committee painful.

Carswell, with a past fling at both politics and newspaper work, was a responsive witness, almost never giving an evasive impression.

Haynsworth aspired to the court from the 4th U.S. Court of Appeals, often a union-management battleground.

There he evoked labor antipathy by frequently ruling against unions.

Carswell is from the 5th Court of Appeals, further south. He wasn't involved enough with labor to excite the AFL-CIO to do more than formally register opposition.

To defeat Haynsworth, labor and civil rights forged a powerful coalition that senators with urban constituencies could not ignore.

In Carswell's case, the civil rights people have fought virtually alone, relieving many of the same senators of having to be answerable to the unions.

Still, it is unlikely that a united labor-civil rights front alone could have toppled Haynsworth. He was faced with a third big force, "ethics," the repeated suggestion the millionaire judge was less than scrupulous about keeping his financial and professional lives completely separate.

This hurt Haynsworth among small-state senators, politicians who generally don't have to worry too much about the sensibilities of organized labor or blacks.

For instance, when the Senate voted, there were unanimous "nays" from Idaho, Montana, New Mexico and Nevada.

Carswell never has had to wrestle with "ethics" allegations and insinuations. He told the Judiciary Committee on his first day as a witness that he owns no stocks or bonds whatsoever.

He has been attacked on one front alone, civil rights.

Carswell has another big thing going for him—the fact of life that is party regularity.

Politicians, party leaders especially, can be independent just so many times. A man who votes too often against the party soon will experience painful stings and pressures.

Seventeen Republicans, including Senate party leaders Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, Robert P. Griffin of Michigan and Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, turned their backs on Nixon and voted against Haynsworth.

The Senate has 43 Republicans. Haynsworth lost 55 to 45.

Can 17 Republicans—assuming they disapprove as much of Carswell—vote against the White House again?

There is, in the capital, a feeling that Nixon and Mitchell inevitably will get their kind of judge to the Supreme Court.

This fatalism has helped Carswell, too, eroding incipient opposition in the expectation the White House will have its way eventually, so why hold out on this particular judge.

Make TB Check At White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tuberculosis tests have been given to 500 Capitol Hill employees after two persons who worked at the Capitol died of the disease, authorities say.

Four other Capitol workers have been hospitalized with TB. Authorities said a waitress in a Senate restaurant and a laborer in the restaurant's storeroom died of the disease. One of those infected also worked in the restaurant.

The other three include a reporter in the House press gallery and employees in the sergeant-at-arms offices in the House and Senate.

Tonkin Gulf Resolution Stands Chance of Repeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican defender of President Nixon's Vietnam policy says a proposal to repeal the Tonkin Gulf resolution stands the best chance of approval among nine measures under consideration by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

But even that effort may not get enough support from the 15-member committee to be sent to the full Senate, Kentucky Sen. John Sherman Cooper said in an interview after Thursday's hearing—the last of the week.

The Gulf of Tonkin resolution, passed by Congress in August 1964 in support of U.S. retaliation against alleged North Vietnamese Naval raids against American ships, was cited later by President Johnson as authority for major involvement of U.S. troops in the war.

Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., meanwhile, said he still hopes some combination of the nine resolutions can be agreed on when the panel takes the matter up next Tuesday.

Fulbright also announced the next phase of his committee's Vietnam study will open hearings Feb. 16 on U.S. military and economic aid programs.

Hearings in early March will deal with the economic aid program, U.S. Information Agency operations and the overall military advisory effort.

Cooper indicated the generally restrained mood of this week's hearings and the lack of support for the resolution, was due to widespread national support of the President.

Besides the Kentucky Republican, GOP Sens. George D. Aiken of Vermont and Clifford P. Case of New Jersey, as well as Democrat Gale McGee of Wyoming, have supported Nixon's efforts to get the United States out of the war.

But Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, one of those urging repeal of the Gulf of Tonkin resolution, said Thursday the President should withdraw U.S. ground forces from combat by Aug. 1 and pull other American troops back to coastal sanctuaries. Young said Nixon's "actions are a great disappointment to those of us who believe an end must be made without delay to indiscriminate warmaking as a presidential prerogative."

Fulbright also spoke out Thursday against South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu and the U.S. Embassy in Saigon in connection with the National Assembly's action in lifting parliamentary immunity of Tran Ngoc Chau, a critic of President Thieu.

He criticized the reported refusal of U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker to intervene with South Vietnamese officials.

"Given the attitude of certain high mission officials towards Chau, and their unwillingness to incur President Thieu's displeasure, I am not surprised," Fulbright said.

"The South Vietnamese Assembly has been intimidated, while the U.S. government has shrugged its shoulders."

K-State Leader Tells of Threat

TOPEKA (AP) — President James McCain of Kansas State University Wednesday gave the Senate Education Committee details of a threat against his life almost a year ago.

Sen. Steadman Ball, R-Atchison, asked McCain about rumors that he moved out of his house to protect his life.

McCain replied that the rumor was untrue, but said highway patrolmen had watched his home and office for about 10 days.

He said law officers told him they had heard talk of a threat against his life. Only one of the persons involved was a student, McCain said, and two of them used narcotics.

Due to the fact they were narcotics users, he said, the officers believed there should be security.

When the persons considered most dangerous moved away from Manhattan, McCain said, the security was dropped.

Introduce New Tax Bill For Aid of Nonresidents

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressmen from New Hampshire and Texas have introduced a bill to bar a state from taxing nonresidents who work where Uncle Sam picks up most of the tab for municipal services.

Rep. Louis C. Wyman, R-N.H., acting mainly to ease an income tax problem with Maine, joined Rep. Richard C. White, D-Tex., trying to gain related relief from New Mexico, in proposing the bill.

At issue in the New England controversy is Maine's law requiring that all employees of the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard pay a Maine state income tax. The shipyard sits on an island between Portsmouth, N.H., and Kittery, Maine, within Maine's boundary.

New Hampshire employees of the shipyard who pay no state income tax of their own, say the tax is unfair because they get nothing in return for their money since most street lighting, water, fire protection and other services at the island shipyard are paid for by the Navy.

Wyman had the New Hampshire-Maine squabble in mind, an aide said, but the bill would apply to Texans working in New Mexico, and other situations around the country.

White said he introduced his bill because West Texans are subjected to "unfair taxation" by New Mexico if they work at military bases in that state.

His measure would bar sales taxes as well as income levies on nonresident commuters unless the taxing state provides proportionate benefits in return.

Wyman's bill would apply to any installation where the federal government pays a majority of the cost of municipal services—such as water, electricity, gas, sewage, fire protection and street-lighting. The congressman views about 90 per cent as the majority.

It would not apply where a state which collects income tax from nonresident workers also pays most of the cost of municipal services.

Black Studies Disbanded At School

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Chancellor Ivan Hinderaker says he is disbanding the black studies department at the University of California at Riverside.

He told a called faculty convocation Wednesday that black studies department chairman, Maurice Jackson had resigned to return to the sociology department.

Hinderaker said the black studies department was prematurely created, academically inferior, and had become a propagandistic program for the campus' 140-member Black Students Union.

"I retain my feeling that the need for a black studies program is extraordinary," Hinderaker said. "I will continue to work toward developing a sound academic program in this field."

The Riverside campus has an enrollment of 5,524, including about 190 Negroes.

Talented Actress Uta Hagen To Make Rare Appearance on CBS Playhouse

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Uta Hagen is such a great actress there aren't many roles that can contain her.

Which is why we have seen her on television so seldom and why we can look forward to seeing her on the CBS Playhouse production of Robert Crea's "The Day Before Sunday," to be telecast Feb. 10.

If a mere play can't contain Uta, who can best be described as a great dame, imagine the difficulty containing her in an interview.

Her life as she lives it (and it's real life; nothing phony about this lady) is a superlative Uta Hagen performance whether she is telling how she saved the life of a tiny puppy born to her precious poodle, or whether she is describing a stripper she once saw fall on an overwaxed floor and complete her routine, bumping, grinding and wiggling while tears streamed down her face and sobs she couldn't contain erupted in time to the music.

Uta laughs a lot, she listens to others, she observes, she makes sense and she's easy to talk to. It's really only her talent that's awesome.

Yet it has been three years since she has appeared on TV in a drama and that show she thought was so terrible she asked that it please not be mentioned.

"The only thing I have ever liked myself in on TV was a Play of the Week production of 'A Month in the Country.' I did it off-broadway in 1956, so it was somewhere in 1957, I guess, when I did the TV show. But the script for 'The Day Before Sunday' was the best TV script I have ever been offered — not that I have been offered that many."

Uta, who turned 50 last June and says it took her six months to get over it ("It was the first birthday that was ever traumatic for me"), says she loves to work, but she does sufficient acting not to miss actual performances.

"A lot of my friends get mad at me," says this two-time Tony Award winner who was on Broadway in 1962 in "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" and "The Cherry Orchard" in 1968. "They say I'm too choosy. I ask what they have seen lately that I should have been in and there is dead silence. I love working, but in something good. Just to act for the sake of acting, no. I have a full life at the studio (with her husband, Herbert Berghof, she runs a very successful drama school), I adore teaching and we do workshop productions. Besides, we're in an era of fad theater. I'm at an age where I don't have the problems of the young kids, who con themselves into taking off their clothes for art. Bosh."

She's totally opposed to the theater's current trend to nudity and shocking language just for the sake of shocking.

"I have this picture of someone who makes love on the stage every night and then discovering a few years from now that he can't make love in his home without an audience.

"That's acting," she said. "To do what exists is not acting. To suggest what exists is acting."

She put down her umpteenth cigarette. "I wish I could quit smoking," said this extremely disciplined performer. "But it requires so much discipline, thought and concentration to do it."

Stage, TV Talents Combine In New Tube Programming

Playwright Neil Simon, responsible for more than half a dozen Broadway hits in recent years, wrote the screenplay for "After the Fox," the NBC Saturday night movie of Jan. 31. Established songwriter Burt Bacharach wrote the music for the wacky comedy which starred Peter Sellers.

Actor Paul Scofield, who is featured as a German colonel in "The Train," to be telecast on "NBC Saturday Night at the Movies" Feb. 7, is an Academy Award winner. Scofield was named "Best Actor" in 1966 for "A Man for All Seasons."

Writer Edward Anhalt who won an Oscar in 1964 for "Best Screenplay" for "Becket" also scripted "The Satan Bug," a taut suspense thriller to be telecast on "NBC Monday Night at the Movies" Feb. 9.

"Billie," the NBC Tuesday night movie to be telecast Feb. 10, was adapted from the Broadway success "Time Out for Ginger" by Ronald Alexander, who also wrote the screenplay.

Andy Griffith, who portrays a minister in "Angel in My Pocket," the NBC Saturday night movie to be telecast Feb. 14, found the role an easy one. The actor, who studied for the ministry in North Carolina before he got started in show business, says he was very nearly ordained.

Experts, Students Confer on Law On Weekly Series

A new thirty-minute television series entitled "You and the Law" will be carried on Station KOMU-TV, Channel 8, Columbia commencing Wednesday Feb. 11, according to a joint announcement by KOMU Station Manager Glenn Griswold and the Kiwanis Clubs of Mid-Missouri.

KOMU-TV is airing the ten-week series at 10:30 p.m. Wednesday evening as a public service. Ten Kiwanis Clubs of Mid-Missouri are sponsoring the program to support efforts in the fields of law, especially with young people. The program will be presented in communities in both the United States and Canada, with Kiwanis clubs or groups of clubs acting as sponsors in each city.

Famed television and motion picture personality Raymond Burr is host for the series. Burr also appears on KOMU-TV as the famed lawyer Perry Mason, weekdays at 4:30 p.m., and as police consultant Robert T. Ironside, Thursday evenings at 7:30.

Each "You and the Law" program consists of a panel of college students, who engage in a dialogue with an expert on law, justice or a closely related field on subjects of current popular interest; drug use and abuse, urban lawlessness, college unrest, government law structure, personal rights, etc.

Guest experts include Governor Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas; Governor Preston Smith of Texas; Senator Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, Sheriff Joseph Woods of Cook County (Chicago) Illinois; Assistant Metropolitan Police Chief Jerry Wilson of Washington, D.C.; Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, famed semanticist, and president of San Francisco State University; John E. Ingersoll, director of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs; Jackson Krill, assistant to the director of the United States Secret Service; and Judge Gordon Tinker, magistrate, Toronto, Ontario, Canada.

Student panelists represent universities and colleges from around the nation, and were chosen by their fellow students and faculty members.

In the unrehearsed discussions, both panelists and experts ask each other pertinent questions on vital issues of the day.

The "You and the Law" television program represents a new departure in public service programming. It has already won acclaim and support.

Joe Flynn, Tim Conway May Be Hit

Joe Flynn has a new series, just starting on CBS. (It's called The Tim Conway Show, but don't tell Joe Flynn that.) And Joe's assessment of it is as follows: "I think it's just mediocre enough to be a hit."

In the four years since McHale's Navy went off, Joe has done a couple of movies, a heap of guest shots, a summer theater tour annually "and more pilots than I care to remember."

What he always wanted was another series. He's not like most of the television stars, who left for a big feature film career. And, he says, most of them are trying desperately to come back now.

"I'm afraid of getting trampled in the rush of ex-TV stars who quit to do movies and are fighting to get back on TV now," he says.

A good step for television — the Prudential's On Stage series on NBC featuring an original play called "Married Alive." It starred Bob Culp and Diana Rigg.

But what is exciting is that it was written by John Mortimer, the English barrister-playwright. He did the script for "John and Mary," the beautiful little gem that stars Dustin Hoffman and Mia Farrow.

Mortimer says that he was originally signed to write the screenplay for "John and Mary" when it was first planned.

"It's from a novel," he says, "which was set in England. And, at first, it was going to be a little English movie, so they gave me a big English percentage."

"But then the plans were changed when they got Dustin and Mia, and suddenly it was a big American movie. And they were stuck with me and my big English percentage. So I had to move the story to America and write it in the American language."

"The hardest part was the grammar. It wasn't hard to find the proper words to use — 'hood' instead of 'bonnet' and that sort of thing — but to fit the words into American-sounding sentences was terribly difficult."

He succeeded nobly. It sounded as American as London broil. (NEA)
